

WALTHAM WATCHES

Do you want your watches delivered this way?

Every American knows that Waltham Watches are good watches.

A watch should always be bought from a responsible jeweler. Jewelers are educated in watch-making. They can see if a watch is in the same perfect condition as when it left the factory and can detect and remedy any little accidental defect it may have received in transportation, as well as regulate it to your personal habit and occupation.

Moreover, the Waltham Watch Company will guarantee every Waltham Watch sold by a recognized watchmaker or jeweler.

Never buy a watch, Waltham or any other, except from a jeweler.

Mail order houses are not, in our opinion, properly equipped to handle good watches.

The Waltham Watch Company will not guarantee watches bought from such concerns.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY OF BENITO JUAREZ IS OBSERVED IN MEXICO

Today is the anniversary of the birth of Benito Juarez, who threw off the yoke of the French and made Mexico a republic again. The day is generally observed all over Mexico in about the same patriotic manner as the United States observes the anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Chihuahua, the state in which the sister city, celebrating today, is located, was in arms against the great soldier when he died; the very state in which he rallied his troops against Maximilian, but today's celebration shows how time effaces all feeling, and how only the great and good qualities of the man are now remembered. The career of Juarez, like that of all great men, was no life of ease, but his pathway was strewn with many thorns. Benito Pablo Juarez, born at Guadalupe, state of Oaxaca, March 21, 1806, saw many turbulent days before he died, July 18, 1872. He was a Liberal politician of pure Indian blood, and was banished from the country by Santa Ana, the despot.

LOVERS
of good health should prevent sickness instead of letting themselves get sick and then try to cure it. So long as you keep your liver, bowels and stomach in a healthy and active condition you won't get sick. Ballard's Herbine relieves constipation, inactive liver and all stomach and bowel troubles. EL PASO SHRINERS PREPARE FOR PILGRIMAGE

Will Take Burro Patrol and El Paso Hats and Juarez Tequila Along.

"On to New Orleans" is the cry of the Shriners these days. A meeting of the committees having in charge the trip to the shrine of shrines, the mecca of mecca, was held Saturday evening, to talk over the plans for the annual pilgrimage to the meeting of the imperial council. It is to be held in New Orleans this year, and the mayor has issued a proclamation making every day a holiday while the shrine meeting is in progress. It will open on April 19 and will continue during the week.

The El Paso shrine will leave here on board special Pullman cars on the evening of April 7, and will be the guest of the Houston lodge until the 24th, when these two lodges, augmented by the Dallas and Mexico City shrines, will make the pilgrimage to New Orleans. The present plans are to have the Galveston shrine join the party at that place and the pilgrimage of the Texas shrine will be made in a body on board a special shrine train.

El Maida shrine is planning a number of novel features for the pilgrimage. The "El Paso hats" which made such a hit at Louisville, will again be distributed to the Shriners from Vancouver to the Everglades. A burro patrol of El Maida members will be taken on the pilgrimage for the big Shrine parade. A tequila punch reception will be held at the El Paso headquarters, and "The Tiger Claws," the El Maida edition of The Herald, will also be issued on the pilgrimage and at New Orleans during the grand council meeting. "The Tiger Claws" is the only Shrine newspaper in the world, and daily editions will be issued on the Shrine special train and also at New Orleans.

At New Orleans, preparations are being made for a week of fun at the Shrine conclave. "Glad-U-Cum" is to be the motto of the New Orleans people.

RELIEF TAKEN TO THE SOTO FAMILY

Americans With Tender Hearts Help Poor Family in Ciudad Chamizal.

Misfortune has not swayed entirely the Soto family, the misery of which was described in The Herald last week. Now only has Ramon Soto, nearly dead of pneumonia, been removed to the county hospital, but help has come to the five large and small Sotos, all girls.

Following notification of county officials by The Herald last week, the Women's Charities visited the Soto home and administered food to the five eager mouths of the Soto flock. Removal of the sick father, now may make it possible for one or both of the elder daughters to go to work. Three or four women have been down there with relief.

Touched by reports of the "Ciudad Chamizal" case E. R. Gemoetz has made a welcome and worthy offer in the name of charity. Five loaves of bread—one for each month—will be given the Sotos each day for an indefinite length of time by Mr. Gemoetz, who is proprietor of the bakery.

"Ciudad Chamizal" located at the far end of nowhere and only frequented by the poorest of the poor, is greatly surprised by all this show of goodness, from a "big city" of which it is a geological part. "Ciudad Chamizal" has learned through the Soto's misfortune that there is goodness in the "big city," goodness and sympathy and unknown friends.

AMUSEMENTS.

"UNCLE JOSH" TONIGHT.
"Uncle Josh," the funny rural comedy, that was seen at the El Paso last night, will be seen for the last time tonight. "If you enjoy a rural comedy, see this one," says manager Rich. The prices are 75, 50 and 25 cents.

THE CRAWFORD.
There will be an interesting change of bill tonight at this popular "house of comfort and safety," and one of the strongest vaudeville bills ever seen in El Paso is promised.

Shirley and Newkirk, in a comedy singing and musical act; "Sherman and Linkin," comedy acrobats, will be the new faces, while the Le Roy sisters will be seen in a budget of new songs, and the popular Keith and Cummings in an entirely new act, with Master Leond Lohr in a new illustrated song and new pictures. It all makes up a great bill, the management says. The show is continuous from 7:30 to 9:30. "Come and go when you please," is the motto.

NEW BILL AT MAJESTIC.
The new bill tonight at the Majestic is a good one with all new songs and dances and plenty of clean comedy and pretty numbers by the Majestic chorus. Three shows are given—7:30, 8:30 and 9:30. Majestic prices are 10 and 20 cents.

WOMAN GOT RATS AND SWITCHES; SKIPS.
Canvasser Makes Collection of Hair Goods at San Antonio and Disappears From City.

San Antonio, Texas, March 21.—A score or more of women in this city were like to know the whereabouts of a certain member of their sex who has gathered up a lot of hair goods in the way of rats and switches, and has failed to return them.

She made a canvass in which she claimed to represent a renovating concern of this city, which she claimed would make the hair goods look like new. The women brought forth all the spare hair they had on hand. The woman promised to return the articles good as new, when she was to receive pay for the work, but thus far she has failed to put in an appearance, and the women who collected the hair for the hair itself was worth, and in this manner is operating wherever she goes.

Deming recently had a similar experience.

THE CHORUS LADY

Novelized From Forbes's
Play of the Same
Name by
John W. Harding

He had been making splendid progress when that marplot of a Mallory interrupted him by his unwelcome visit.
He pressed a button beside the fireplace, and Rogers appeared.
"I want a nice little supper for two at once," said Crawford. "Fix it on this little table. It will be cozier than on the larger one."
"Very good, sir. What would you like, sir?" asked the valet.
"I don't know," mused Crawford. "What would you suggest—birds?"
"Hardly, sir. You've got to be educated up to birds. I should say a chicken salad, ice cream and a sweet about, it's you."
"No, please let me go. I can't stay, really. I'm sick, and I want to go home. I'll come back some other night—on purpose to see you."
She looked at him appealingly.
"I wouldn't for a minute think of letting you go in such a condition," he insisted, arranging the cushion in the chair and drawing the latter close to the fire. "You can wait a few minutes, surely, until you have had time to pull yourself together."
"And will you give me the note?" she asked anxiously.
"Why, that'll be all right," he assured her. "It isn't the note I care about, it's you."
She seated herself reluctantly, and he went to the sofa, gathered up an armful of cushions and piled them under her feet, so that they were on a level with the logs.
"There!" he exclaimed, with a boyish exuberance that caused her to smile in spite of herself.

Then he poured out some Scotch whisky, squirted a little seltzer in it and held the beverage to her lips.
She demurred.
"No; I never touch liquor," she said.
"But you must," he coaxed gayly.
"It's medicine. I'm the doctor and you have to obey orders."
She drank a little, and he gave her the glass, which she held in her lap. The stuff did not taste unpleasant or too strong.
"There's no occasion for you to hurry," Crawford urged. "It isn't 9 o'clock yet. You don't have to go back to the theater—I told you I'd fix that. All your folks are there, and if you reach home by 11 or even half-past it will be early enough."
The whisky was warming her veins and steadying her nerves. She felt that it was doing her good.
"But what'll I tell Patsy?" she said.
"She must have found out long ago that I had left the Long Acre, and she'll be wondering what's become of me. I'd rather go—much rather."
She took another sip at the glass.
